COURSE DESCRIPTION

Sport not only can boast international mass appeal drawing global audiences and participants, but also foster cultural exchange and business collaborations among people or organisations of diverse culture and business nature. While many organisations have integrated 'sport' or 'athlete' in their strategic marketing/ branding strategies or ESG programs, sports world provides a perfect platform for students to put their marketing knowledge into practice.

This course will share numerous examples and cases of sports marketing and business collaboration aiming to provoke insights and creative ideas for the development of marketing strategies when students are working with local or multinational corporations.

Adopting learning-by-participation approach, this course will encourage students to take part in experiential and cooperative learning activities e.g. role play, quiz, debate, case study, negotiation simulation, problem-solving exercise, group presentation, etc. in order to deepen their understanding in the subject and facilitate application of knowledge and skillset in real world business.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

1. Deepen students' understanding in strategic marketing through studying cases in local and international sport or non-sport organisations
2. Encourage professionalism and exploration of new marketing tactics with reference to business collaborations of different products, brands and industries
3. Provide insights and opportunities for students to apply marketing knowledge and identify possible issues and crises in real world business
4. Stimulate creativity and develop negotiation and problem-solving skills by experiential and cooperative learning activities

ADDITIONAL COURSE INFORMATION

Lecture notes will be distributed in class. Supplementary readings will be handed out in class or uploaded on the course website.

You are requested to declare the use of Artificial Intelligence in your group project.

Class Exchange & Group Presentation

1. Teamwork and Peer Evaluation

Each student will join a group. Your individual contribution to the group will be reflected in an evaluation form/ peer assessment conducted at the end of the module. No group swapping is generally allowed once the course starts (unless approved by the instructor on a case-to-case basis). You are expected to manage your group activities effectively and efficiently.

2. Marketing Strategy Presentation

At the end of the module, each group will be required to prepare for a presentation of marketing strategies for an organisation, product or brand. Each group may decide an organisation, product or brand and submit it to the instructor at or before Lecture 3. Upon endorsement of the instructor, each group may conduct research, discussions and prepare slides for presenting their ideas as well as ways of execution and evaluation.

Your performance will be graded by the instructor as well as your fellow students on:

- Clear understanding of the organisation/ product/ brand positioning, target audiences and market environment;
- Feasibility and creativity of marketing ideas and strategies;
- Anticipation of possible issues and crises
- Written and oral presentation skills as well as ability to solve concerns of others

Other instructions

The presentation slides need to be submitted by 18:00 the day before the presentation. For late submissions, one point will be deducted for each hour late.
